To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Tom McCormack, and I'm a teacher in the Business Technology Department at Stoughton High School. Kevin has been an exceptional member of our faculty at Stoughton High School. He's an extremely hard worker that pursues the newest technologies to teach his students.

Kevin is a passionate and dedicated multimedia teacher at Stoughton High School. I know this because we have worked together developing curriculum and co-curricular projects. I teach web design, and Kevin has helped me develop projects that will implement the use of video for student websites and presentations. I have also enjoyed our time collaborating on student learning goals and professional practice goals for the teacher evaluation system. I'm not the only teacher that Kevin has assisted. He's also helped other teachers integrate the use of video for student projects. For example, the students in Ms. Moll's poetry class created videos in his class for their final projects.

He has also done a great job producing the student newscast in the morning. The program is extremely informative and the students and faculty find it highly entertaining. He's also helped raise money for the Stoughton Public School system by producing promotional videos.

Kevin Bechet has been a great asset to our academic institution. I know this first hand because I see the work ethic that he uses everyday here at Stoughton High School.

Sincerely,

Tom McCormack
